MEETING OF AMERICAN RED CROSS

Mass Meeting Called For Tuesday, January 19th

An executive board meeting of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the courthouse on Wednesday morning.

At this meeting, Mrs. Louis Maumus, Executive Secretary, told members present that 85 cases in home service had been handled by her office during the month of December alone.

Home service constitutes aid to the families of service men who require assistance and is one of the most essential services rendered by Red Cross. A simple explanation of this service is: A Soldier may receive word of very serious illness in his family with the request that he come home. He goes to his Commanding Officer who in turn refers him to the Red Cross Field Director whose office in camp is staffed for day and night service. The Field Director will wire the home chapter to make an immediate investigation and report and if the situation is found to be serious, he will aid in getting a furlough for the man, and if necessary, will advance to him the funds for his trip home. In the meantime the home chapter is assisting the family and is aiding them in whatever way is necessary and continues to aid the man and his family until their problems are solved and he is able to return to his station.

Other services which the office rendered throughout the year were the aiding and expediting service men's allotments to their dependents and giving temporary assistance to families in new while awaiting allotments, which sometimes are delayed for months because of the great number of cases pending in the offices of the government.

3750 chapters with their 6000 branches covering every county and community in the land took care of over two million service men's cases, and volunteer Red Cross workers have assisted materially in this great undertaking.

On Tuesday, January 19th, there will be a mass meeting at the courthouse at which time officers for the year 1943 will be elected to serve on the Hancock Chapter of the American Red Cross, the hour of the meeting to be at 10 A. M.

Persons Desiring War Production Training Apply To County Supt. Office

Superintendent of Education Kenneth G. McCarty announces that with the great expansion of war production, the need for trained workers to be placed in war plants grows daily and persons desiring to enroll for training in electric welding, sheet metal work, marine pipefitting and machine shop work may apply at his office.

Trades are being taught at the Gulfport school with training periods covering approximately 100 hours, depending upon the progress of the individual. The courses are open to men and women who are 16 years and over, no previous experience being necessary, and instructions are given daily except Sunday. Arrangements will be made for trainees who are working and are unable to attend the full class periods. Hours for training periods can be arranged to suit the applicant and can be either in the afternoon or evening, and transportation will be provided if enough applicants show desire to enroll in the school.

There is no expense whatever attached to this training and this is a splendid opportunity for anyone to learn a good-paying trade, with the opportunity of being placed in a war plant immediately after his or her completion of training.

Mr. Fred A. Skellie, manager of the Gulfport War Training School, who conferred with Mr. McCarty in Bay St. Louis stressed the urgent need of trained employees in war plants at present, especially at the Ingalls Shipyards at Pascagoula.

This is a golden opportunity for anyone wishing to prepare themselves for work in the many war plants operating day and night and also of doing one's patriotic duty in the great war effort.

Anyone wishing to enroll for these classes may call at the Superintendent's office and either see Mr. McCarty or Mrs. Stevenson any day from 9 until 5 o'clock.

GARDEN CLUB MEETING
The Bay-Waveland Garden Club will meet for the month of January on next Tuesday, January 14th, at the home of Mrs. A. C. Exnicke, 606 N. Beach Boulevard, and members are urged to attend and bring a guest. A talk by Miss Catherine Northrup promises an interesting meeting.

IN U. S. ARMY

PVT. SAM BENIGNO

J. C. Baxter, Jr., Reported Prisoner of War

The family and friends of J. C. Baxter, Jr., who was reported missing after one of the great battles in the Pacific are jubilant over long-awaited news about J. C. Baxter is now a prisoner of war in the hands of the Japanese somewhere in Japan, and not deceased as had been thought. During the first hostilities in the Pacific, and while the great fort of Bataan held out in siege against the enemy Japs, large numbers of American boys were killed and some few taken as prisoners and it is now stated that among the American prisoners taken at the fall of Bataan and Corregidor, J. C. Baxter was one of these unfortunate boys who held out in that gallant and unforgettable stand.

Little word has been had except that J. C. Baxter is listed among the prisoners of war, and that a letter would be received from him shortly through the International Red Cross, but this news was received with great joy because during the long silence and apparent loss of this native son, nearly everyone had given him up as one of those who had been killed during battle.

ROTARIANS HAVE JOINT MEETING

The Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian Rotary Clubs met jointly for lunch on Wednesday, at Hotel Reed. Mr. Paul Harris, World Rotarian No. 1 and organizer of Rotary International was the guest speaker. He was introduced by Mr. H. W. LeTissier.

Mr. Harris spoke on the purpose, and accomplishments of Rotary Clubs in this and foreign countries and stated that there were active Rotary clubs in 60 countries with a membership of 210,000.

He held up the ideals of Rotary goodwill and fellowship.

Mr. Harris was very interesting and informative talk. He and Mrs. Harris are guests of Hotel Reed.

But with this intellectual feast went the physical feast for genial H. W. LeTissier did himself proud on the menu and served a delicious meal.

Temporary Office Of ODT Motor Transport Opened

W. R. Atkins, ODT motor transport division district manager, announced Saturday that a temporary office established in Gulfport to serve farmers and other operators of vehicles seeking adjustments in their mileage allotments will remain open for the next several weeks.

"The office will be open Monday through Friday until further notice," Mr. Atkins said. "Owners of trucks, particularly farmers, are notified that they may contact Mr. Ashton H. Hardy of this office at his temporary headquarters in the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce."

However, persons who would be required to drive any distance are requested to conserve this mileage and contact the New Orleans district office by mail.

Atkins reminded all truck operators that they are required to keep certain operating records and report mileage equipment, also that trucks must have their first tire inspection by January 15.

IMPROVING

Miss Marie Therese Staehle who was painfully burned just before the Christmas holidays is still at the Kings Daughters Hospital. According to latest reports her condition is much improved. It is the hope of her many friends that she will soon be well and out again.

COUNTY SCRAP PILES BEING CUT—SHIPPED TO FOUNDRIES

Many people have asked why the scrap collected has not been shipped and used in the war effort. "If the government needs scrap so badly why is it still here?" First all the scrap must be sorted and processed, this is done by large junk dealers who have the knowledge and equipment to handle the job. All tin must be cut into pieces not over twelve inches square and be flat for shipping to a certain factory. Cast iron is broken up and shipped to another place. Steel and steel products of all kinds must be cut into sections not over eighteen inches wide and not over five feet long. Automobile motors, etc. are shipped to camps where enlisted men in the mechanical departments pull them down for educational purposes etc. Bear in mind also that with Hancock County producing upwards of four hundred tons and multiply this by State and all States the amount of scrap that must be handled in a short time.

The large piles at the L. & N. station are now being cut up with power shears, cutting torches, etc.; loaded into cars for shipment. The upturn pile at the Gulf Chevrolet Company will be cut by the end of the week according to Al Voight, County Scrap Chairman who said "It is so easy to criticize our Government even the few of us know all the details of its war time plans. If we do what we are asked to do we will not only be good citizens but we will be a unit in a plan that will benefit everyone of us eventually."

NURSERY SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY JAN. 11

The Bay St. Louis Nursery School which will open January 11th, is established by the Government, primarily for the children of employed mothers and the armed forces. Other children, between ages 2 and 5 years old are eligible until the demand from these two classes fill the quota.

All children must have a physical examination and a certificate from either their own physician or Dr. Shipp before being enrolled. Dr. Shipp will give a free examination to any child who comes to his office at the City Hall, by appointment.

Nursery Schools, while new to this part of the country, have been operating with great success in other parts of the nation. It is an educational project and is under the State and City school systems. It has an environment planned solely for the child. The furnishings and equipment are planned for his physical needs the size of chairs, tables, etc. to stimulate self-help and confidence. WAR RATION BOARD COLUMN

The Office of Price Administration announced this week that point rationing of certain canned and bottled foods which starts in February leaves little opportunity for hoarding because individuals will have to reveal the amount of rationed commodities on hand before being issued War Ration Book II.

Every man, woman and child will receive the same number of points, OPA said, less deductions for excess stocks. Consequently, an individual who buys heavily during the pre-rationing period will actually get no more of any particular item, in the long run, than if he continues normal buying.

The new rationing order includes canned, bottled and frozen fruits, vegetables and juices, dried fruit and soups. Home canned food has no connection with the order and will not have to be declared when applying for the ration books.

Rationing will be preceded by a short freeze of the rationed commodities so retailers can stock up and get ready. During the freeze, War Ration Book II will be issued by local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Officials emphasized that book II can be issued only to individuals who have already been issued book I. Persons who have not yet received book I must get one from their local boards by January 15 to qualify for book II. Ration Book I, however, will continue to be used.

In the new book, blue stamps are for processed food. The letter on the stamp indicates when it can be used and the number on the stamp indicates its point value. Individuals can choose what they wish to buy with their points.

Meat Restriction Order No. 1

Stores that do not kill their meat are not under regulation under this order. Stores that do their own slaughtering come under the regulations as to their meat killed by a custom slaughterer, do not come under regulations themselves, but the concern that does the actual killing does come under control.

A non-quota slaughterer is one killing less than 500,000 pounds per quarter (3 months), and includes retail butchers and farmers if they slaughter and deliver. They are not required to register or file documents now.

Non-slaughterers, although not registered are restricted. Deliveries of controlled meat during quota periods are limited to amounts of each type which they delivered during corresponding period of 1941.

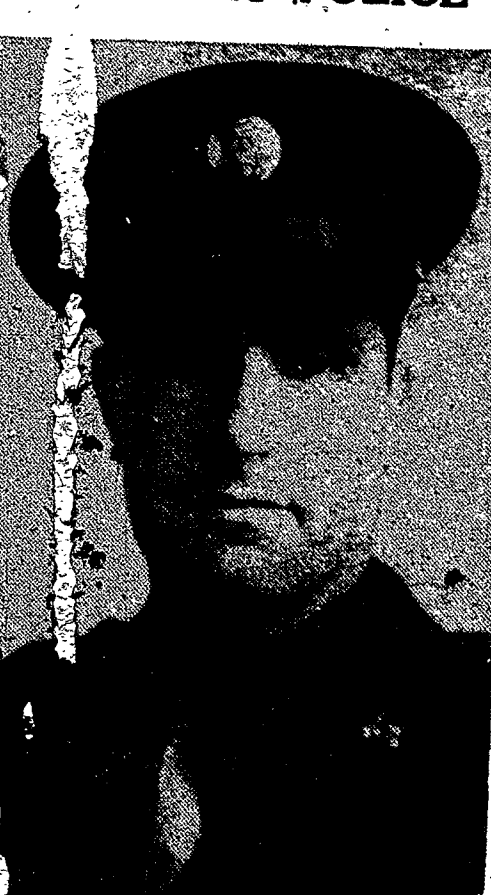

They must preserve such reports as they have covering business since January 1, 1941. They must now keep accurate record, by quota periods (3 months each) of live purchase weight and chilled carcass weight of all cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, and give purchase weight only of swine killed by them.

Controlled meat includes beef, pork, mutton, veal and lamb.

Any person holding War Ration Book One, the sugar-coffee coupon book, who eats 14 or more meals a week in a cafe, boarding house, or similar eating place, must surrender his book to the owner or manager of such establishment, it was announced today by J. D. Wise, State OPA rationing officer.

Formerly this regulation set 12 meals per week; but an amendment

MILITARY POLICE

CO. PERAL BERNARD J. FIRPO.

Corporal Bernard J. Firpo, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Gus E. Temple of Bay St. Louis, is a member of Co. D, 193 Military Police Detachment, Camp Maxey, Texas.

Effective Monday, December 21 changes the figure to 14. Book One should be returned to the owner temporarily when it is needed in order to obtain Book Two when the latter is issued early in 1943, Mr. Wise explained.

Point rationing will be introduced early in 1943 when War Rationing Book Two is distributed, it was stated today by J. D. Wise, State OPA Rationing Officer. The purpose of point rationing is to guarantee everyone a fair share of scarce but essential goods and at the same time give everyone a variety of items from which to choose.

There are three chief differences between point rationing and straight coupon rationing now in effect for sugar, coffee, and gasoline, Mr. Wise said.

First, under coupon rationing a single coupon entitles the consumer to buy a specific amount of a single commodity, while in point rationing a set of coupons covers a group of related commodities and the consumer may choose freely among them.

Second, in point rationing coupons are of different denominations.

Third, under the point rationing plan the different commodities within in one group will have different point values. For example, T-bone steak, being relatively scarce, would have a high point value while hamburger, being available in larger quantities, would have a lower value. Thus a coupon which would enable the consumer to buy one pound of T-bone steak might be used to buy four pounds of hamburger.

The government will set the point value of each item within a group of rationed products and issue an official list. Point values will vary as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

The new war ration books will have four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. The blue stamps will be used for the first group of items to be rationed by points. The red stamps will be used for a second group.

The number on each stamp will show the point value, while the letter on each stamp will indicate the period during which the stamp may be used.

Everybody who was eligible for War Ration Book One—the sugar-coffee book—will be eligible for War Ration Book Two, Mr. Wise said.

It is reported that some merchants in Mississippi are violating price regulations by requiring a person desiring to purchase one commodity to purchase another also as a condition of the sale of the commodity desired, Dr. S. Wallace, State OPA Price Officer, stated today.

One case reported is that a merchant requires his customers who want hard to buy a stipulated amount of flour as well.

In another case reported the merchant required women to buy a pair of cotton hose with each pair of silk hose purchased while still another merchant required that an entire bed be bought as a condition of his sale of bed springs.

Such practices, are definitely violations of price regulations, Dr. Wallace stated. Consumers who encounter such requirements in their shopping should report the facts immediately to their local War Price and Rationing Boards or to the State OPA Office.

First arrests for violation of the gasoline rationing order was announced by W. Newman, State OPA Enforcement Attorney. Salem Bak-hur, Syrian peddler, was charged with conspiracy and with failure to remove from his gasoline coupon book the coupons to cover gasoline transferred from a hoarded supply to the tank of his automobile. In the same case George Joseph George was charged with conspiracy.

The two men were arrested at Belzoni, Mississippi, and brought to Jackson where they were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Whitfield this morning.

DEATH OF PETER J. BOUDIN

Local Contractor and Builder
Dies at Age of 72—
Native of Bay St.
Louis

Peter Joseph Boudin, aged 72, died at his home in Third street on Monday, January 4 at 2:45 A. M. following an illness which extended over a period of several months.

Mr. Boudin was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Boudin and was a native and life-long resident of Bay St. Louis.

He was a contractor and builder and had a wide range of friends and acquaintances and there were few home owners who did not know Mr. Boudin.

He was a member of the Mac-cabees and the W. O. W. and was an estimable citizen and one of the few remaining members of the old families of Bay St. Louis.

The many beautiful floral offerings attested to the esteem in which he was held.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3 P. M. from the Fahey Funeral Home with services there and at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, the Rev. Father Clark officiating. Interment was in St. Marys Cemetery.

The pallbearers were W. L. Bourgeois, L. B. Capdepon, Emilio Cue, Louis Spotorino, Fred Fayard, Sr., and Bernard Blaize.

Mr. Boudin is survived by his wife, the former Miss Elizabeth Dillman, three daughters, Mrs. T. A. Quintini, of St. Louis, Missouri; Mrs. William Carbonette, Miss Julia Boudin, a son George Boudin and four grandchildren—Miss Mary Josephine Lagniell of Bay St. Louis.

The Echo extends its sincere sympathy to the family.

Those here out of town for the funeral were his cousin Mrs. A. J. Baron and Miss Ellen Reaney and Eugene Barrouse, all of New Orleans.

'1943 VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN

Because of congestion in the mail service advance literature for the Victory Book Campaign reached the Red Cross office too late for publicity. The following is quoted from a letter to the local Red Cross office: "You are familiar with the success of the 1942 campaign and of the necessity of making the 1943 campaign even more successful. The Army and Navy are continuing to increase in size with the result that many more books are needed. All of this presents the Red Cross with a distinct challenge—a challenge calling for the utmost cooperation with the American Library Association and the United Service Organizations in a single campaign. It means that chapters and their Red Cross Units, including Camp and Hospital Service Councils and Hospital Recreation Corps and urged to give every support to the Victory Book Campaign. Every effort should be made to see that a local Victory Book Campaign is set up and provided with the best leadership the community affords."

Quoting from a letter to Miss Crawford, librarian, we have the following: "The 1943 Victory Book Campaign is on its way to your town and library. Our armed forces have expanded so rapidly it is essential that you and your staff renew your activity in order to provide books for the men in the services. A new drive has been planned by the board of Directors of the Victory Book Campaign, to open January 5 and to continue until March 6. Everyone is asked to help; you who so materially helped in 1942, and the people who were not aware of the earlier campaign."

"The Victory Book Campaign will operate under the joint sponsorship of the American Library Association, the American Red Cross and the USO but will be directed by the Victory Book Campaign Committee. This committee is seeking to place increased emphasis on cooperative activities of individual communities in helping to raise the needed millions of books."

It is hoped that the people will respond to this call and make the 1943 Victory Book Campaign a successful one. Please don't clean out your attic and give what you wouldn't read yourself. Don't give old books that deal with customs of long ago. Our boys want the best and it is our duty to see that they get it.

The USO will be represented by Mrs. A. F. Fournier, the ALA by Miss Louise Crawford and the Red Cross by Mrs. Louis Maumus.

PAY NOW

TWENTY-SEVEN million Americans will soon be paying heavy income taxes that as time goes on will become even heavier. To all but a mere fraction of this number, personal income taxes will be a new experience. In fact, according to recent surveys, a good proportion of these people do not realize they have been included in the taxable brackets. They are making no preparations to pay taxes. They are spending their money as fast as they earn it. The threat to government authority and solvency by a mass of potential tax delinquents, is serious.

A practical solution is the prompt adoption of a pay-as-you-go arrangement such as the Ruml plan. Mr. Ruml, former dean of social science at the University of Chicago, and Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, observes that: "Nothing can be gained by arguing that people ought to have saved the tax on last year's income out of last year's income. The fact is that they did not do it and now they cannot do it."

Every taxpayer must realize that we cannot survive war, and return to a system of individual freedom unless the government remains solvent. If it is to do that the people will have to pay taxes and buy bonds on a devastating scale. Tax laws must be mercilessly far-reaching and efficient.

PRESENT MYSTERIES ABOUT THE WAR

THERE are growing mysteries in connection with the war, and the answer to them may give some light upon the probable length of the struggle.

Chief of the mysteries is the apparent inability of Germany to reinforce her African contingents with air power, which they sadly lack. Whether this is due to losses in Russia, lack of production or a grand strategy of conserving air power for surprise uses we do not know.

Another mystery is the failure of the Japanese to reinforce their soldiers in New Guinea. When news comes of such an attempt we read of cruisers and destroyers landing soldiers and supplies, not cargo ships and troopships. What has happened to the Japanese merchant ships, without which long supply lines cannot be served and conquered areas cannot be looted?

Again, from New Delhi, comes the statement of Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell, commander of our air forces in India, Burma and China, that "the Japanese air force everywhere has been materially weakened" and that the Japanese admit it. He says Jap planes in Burma and China have been moved "rapidly from one airfield to another as airbases get too hot."

Perhaps the greatest mystery of all is the extent of German troop losses in Russia. There is a reluctance to accept Moscow's estimates of Nazi casualties, but the Red army fights confidently and the German legions have been unable to annihilate the "Communists," except on paper.

There is the suspicion that the Moscow estimates are close to the mark, that the Nazi army has been badly crippled and that heavy losses explain the inability of the Germans to take Stalin-grad, Moscow and the valuable oil fields of the Caucasus.

1943—HOW HARD WILL IT BE?

THE beginning of 1943 presents most Americans with problems that they never expected to face.

What with war all over the face of the globe, and with millions of our young men involved in the fray, there has become necessary some restrictions upon the right of the average American to do as he pleased.

Business men will face 'hardships' says one commercial forecast which, by the way, did not remark upon the hardships and dangers to be endured by our fighting men.

Housewives will be unable to buy all the food that they can pay for, or charge at the grocery, and this will be terrible despite the fact that we will continue to be the world's best-fed people.

Adults and children will have to forego the use of the family automobile, occasionally, in order that ships and tanks get fuel for use in battle. However, none of them will wish to swap rides with soldiers or sailors.

Even so, the year may prove pretty good to the American people. If it does not bring them victory in one of their wars, it will probably give them positive proof that it is around the corner in both conflicts.

With such encouragement we can put up with inconveniences, discomforts and sacrifices and we ought to do so cheerfully, loyally and with stout hearts.

JAP LEADERS EXPLAIN

THE military leaders of Japan find it necessary to explain to the people of their country why the promised victory seems to be delayed.

Consequently, General Hideki Tojo recently warned his countrymen that "the real war is starting from now" that our air bases in the Solomon Islands make it "extremely difficult" to reinforce Japanese forces and that frequent American air attacks have caused "unimaginable" privations and difficulties to Japanese troops in the Aleutian Islands.

General Tojo is correct in warning his people that, insofar as Japan is concerned, the real war is "just starting." Despite bombastic claims that the U. S. Navy has been destroyed and that the white race will be expelled from the Far East, the average Japanese knows enough to realize that the war continues. Undoubtedly, after hearing of continuous decisive victories over the foes of the Empire, the docile Japanese is inclined to wonder why triumphant peace does not arrive.

Japanese admirals who planned to dictate peace in the White House must have had an abnormal opinion of American courage.

Congressional Sidelights

by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

Colleges and Armed Services

With the induction of the 18-19-year olds the nation's colleges now face a most serious crisis, as does the educational future of America's young manhood. The Selective Service Boards have been authorized to grant temporary deferment to college and university students and instructors in certain medical, engineering, and other technical fields. Medical students, dental students, veterinary students—which includes pre-medical, pre-dental and pre-veterinary students who have had as much as one year of study—graduate and undergraduate students in engineering, chemistry, physics, bacteriology, and all instructors in the above courses are to be deferred until July 1, 1943 under the existing order. All male university and college students have been urged by Chairman McNutt to remain in school until they are called up for military services.

A broad program for utilizing college and university facilities to give specialized training to young men in the armed services has been approved by the Secretaries of War and Manpower. Commissioner McNutt. Special preference is to be given the smaller colleges and universities whose financial resources are so meager their existence is threatened in this program in order to enable them to continue to operate during the war years. The institutions chosen by the Army and Navy will furnish instructions in courses prescribed by the Government.

Questionnaires have been sent to all of the higher educational institutions in the country so that data as to what facilities are available will be on hand. It is expected that the Army and Navy utilize some 200 of these schools to train some 150,000 young men, and the War Manpower Commission will no doubt use the facilities of more than this number.

The Manpower and Food Problems.

The President has stepped in to clear up two of the most acute problems on the home front—the threatened shortage of manpower and food. Using his war powers, President Roosevelt has given full authority over manpower, including the Selective Service set-up, to Paul V. McNutt and has given Secretary of Agriculture Wickard control over the problem of the production and distribution of food.

As manpower czar Mr. McNutt will in effect, "ration" the nation's human resources. It will be his job to balance the needs of the armed forces, war industry, agriculture, and essential civilian activities.

Secretary Wickard has assumed full control over the food problems of production, processing and distribution. It will be up to him to determine the direct and indirect military requirements, as well as other government, civilian, and foreign requirements for food. He will also have the responsibility of increasing production of urgently needed foods and curbing growth of foods we already have in abundance. Mr. Wickard has stated that it is his purpose to set up a national assembly line for the ample production and distribution of food vitally needed for both war and peace. Civilian goods will no doubt steadily diminish in 1943 as lease-lend goods production is stepped up. Secretary Wickard has assured the Nation that there will be plenty of food for health standards. Shortage of farm labor may necessitate the rationing of all foods within a few months, however. Mr. Wickard has already asked for a ten percent increase in livestock production and is urging home gardening and home canning for 1943.

HAS FINE VICTORY GARDEN

Albert Heitzmann, Jr., besides his duties as janitor at the U. S. Post Office in Bay St. Louis, finds time even by moonlight to tend one of the finest victory gardens in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Heitzmann, always interested in the soil and cattle-raising, has a large plot of ground adjoining his home on Ballentine Street where he keeps a field garden with oats for his poultry, and where he raises choice vegetables for his own use and a surplus for canning.

Recently Mr. Heitzmann purchased four and one half acres of ground out of the city limits on which he has a large herd of goats, young calves and hogs.

Mr. Heitzmann has one of the finest crops of fall vegetables grown in a small garden hereabouts and expects to have a good supply of meats from his cattle, and the energy and ambition displayed by this man is well worth taking note of as with food rationing upon us, victory gardening and raising of cattle and poultry will be necessary in order to keep up our balanced diets and preserve good health at a time when it will be most necessary.

COLOR, THRILLS, TOP STARS DUE IN "FOREST RANGERS"

To Be At A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday

Telling its thrilling love story in fiery Technicolor, Paramount's powerful romance of America's far-flung timberlines, "The Forest Rangers," will open at the A. & G. Theater on Sunday with Fred McMurray, Paulette Goddard and Susan Hayward heading the star-studded cast. Others on the stellar list include Lynne Overman, Albert Dekker, Eugene Pallette, Regis Toomey and Rod Cameron.

Directed by George Marshall from a story by Thelma Strabel, author of "Reap the Wild Wind," this latest drama of the great outdoors glorifies the men of the U. S. Forest Service, the intrepid Rangers who guard one of the nation's most vital natural resources, our forests. Plentifully supplied with comedy and exciting adventure, "The Forest Rangers" is outstanding for its musical numbers, including the Hit Parade tune, "Jingle Jangle Jingle," by Frank Loesser and Joseph Lilley, and "Tall Grows the Timber," by Loesser and Frederick Hollander.

"The Forest Rangers" is one of those rare films that just had to be made in Technicolor to bring out the colorful and eye-filling timberland scenes and the thrilling forest fire sequences, said to be the most exciting and spectacular fire scenes ever filmed. Technicolor cameramen, working with Rangers of the Forest Service, ranged over most of the Pacific slope to get actual fire shots.

Made with the full cooperation of the Forest Service and with Gordon Ellis, Supervisor of Tehoe National Forest, as technical advisor, "The Forest Rangers" tells the story of District Ranger Don Stuart, played by Fred McMurray. Don meets a society beauty from the East and marries her, thus starting a sequence of laughs, thrills and romantic situations that keep the film moving right down to the last flicker. It's a big picture, in every department—stars, background and story.

THE County AGENTS COLUMN

President's Proclamation

In his proclamation of January 12, as Farm Mobilization Day, the President of the United States says: Food is no less a weapon than tanks, guns and planes. As the power of our enemies decreases, the importance of the food resources of the United States increases. With this thought in mind we must further mobilize our resources for the production of food.

Now, Therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, January 12 1943 as Farm Mobilization Day and ask that on that day the farmers of this country, gather, wherever possible with Department of Agriculture representatives, Extension Service Agents, Vocational Teachers, State Officials, farm organizations and others concerned in order to discuss ways and means of insuring for the year 1943 the maximum production of vital foods upon every farm in this country. I should like Farm Mobilization Day to be a symbol of a free America; a symbol of the might and productivity of our nation, and a symbol of our unalterable determination to put to full use our agricultural resources as well as our other resources in the achievement of complete victory.

Produce More Hay

Our 1943 production goal in livestock products for war needs and our own needs require the production of considerably larger supplies of high quality legume hay. Provision should be made to allot sufficient acreage to legume hay crops to provide 2 to 3 tons of good hay for each head of cattle and workstock; more should be provided for local market, if practicable, on many farms. More good legume hay and pasture should be provided as a means of producing feed with less labor and other cost.

Each farmer should figure out his needs for high quality legume hay and begin now to plan for its production. Old lespedeza meadows may need reseeding in spots, or more land may be needed for new plantings. The land should be prepared soon to be in good condition for planting in February or early March. Lespedeza may also be planted on oats at the same time on good land.

Every acre should produce to its maximum degree next year, and for the duration. Yields of lespedeza hay can be almost doubled if 150 to 200 pounds of superphosphate and 500 pounds crushed limestone to the acre are broadcast on new or old lespedeza. There are plenty of these fertilizer materials available and farmers now have funds with which to buy them.

Liberal Roughage Feeding Necessary

Military and lend lease requirements for milk and dairy products will be greater in 1943 than in 1942. With higher prices for concentrates and shortage of labor on the larger dairy farms, producers in Mississippi may be forced to maintain or increase milk production by feeding more roughage of good quality. Liberal roughage feeding at this season with concentrates will not only increase production but will hold the cows in flesh when they are increased production when they can be turned to winter growing crops or late winter pastures. However, cows should preferably be kept off such crops as are at least 4 inches high. The plants then have sufficient strength to recover and make rapid growth in growing weather. Your cropping system should be planned now to include such crops as Sudan, millet, or soybean to supplement summer pastures. An abundance of high quality roughage is essential to increased production. All open cows should be bred now so they will freshen next fall.

Get Seedlings

Now is the season to take advantage of the AAA benefit payment for planting forest tree seedlings. Conditions are now optimum for the lifting and distributing seedlings. There is plenty of stock to supply

ORTTE THEATER SUNDAY AND MONDAY CLARK GABLE AND LANA TURNER

In "Somewhere I'll Find You"

Clark Gable and Lana Turner co-star again in "Somewhere I'll Find You," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama of war correspondents in the Far East. Their first co-starring film was "Honky Tonk."

This is a story as timely as today's dispatches from the front and it is handled superbly by stars, supporting cast and direction by Wesley Ruggles.

Gable and Robert Sterling, as brothers, and newspapermen, are both in love with Miss Turner, also a correspondent on duty in Indo-China. The rivalry is rudely interrupted by the bombing of Pearl Harbor, which throws them into the maelstrom as something more than neutral observers.

The girl disappears and the brothers go after her, fighting through jungle and Japs to find her transporting Chinese children to a place of safety. It develops that her real love has always been for the older brother, Gable, although she was half engaged to Sterling.

In the spectacular action of the first stages of war with Japan, Sterling is hit, Gable and the girl are reunited and the story ends on a note that leaves the feeling of eventual American victory.

The supporting cast is excellent, including Patricia Dane, as a beautiful adventuress in the Far East, Reginald Owen and Lee Patrick, as denizens of Greenwich Village in New York, Tamara Shayne, Charles Dingle, Leonid Kinsky, Diana Lewis and Sara Haden.

Wesley Ruggles directed. Remembered for his distinguished pictures, "Cimarron," Academy Award winner, "Accent on Youth," "I Met Him in Paris" and others of note, Ruggles has repeated his triumph in the new film.

The story is strikingly effective in its timeliness rich with adventure of the sort that is familiar to Americans now, and warmly human in its romance.

all demands this year. In view of the uncertainty faced in future production, all farmers are urged to take care of their eroding areas, assure themselves of a future supply of fence posts, and get their non-cultivable land into production. These objectives can be achieved in spite of the labor shortage by taking a few days now to get the tree seedlings planted.

The 1943 AAA Program has allocated $15 a farm over the regular soil building allotment, that can be earned by planting forest tree seedlings. This payment can be earned at the rate of $4 an acre for planting pines, cedars, cypress, black walnut, black locust, oak, ash, hickories, catalpa, Bois D'Arc, cotton wood, redmulberry, or yellow poplar. To meet specifications for earning this money a minimum of 1,000 trees an acre must be planted with a survival of 650 trees an acre at the time of checking performance. Soil preparation by flat breaking or bedding is required for hardwoods. Plantings must be protected adequately from fire and animals, and in the case of hardwoods must be cultivated at least twice during the first growing season. Arrangements should be made for ordering trees as early as possible.

CAPITOL ACTIVITIES

King Cotton
Figures published in the press places the value of the South's cotton crop in 1940 at $241,475,000, the crop in 1941 at $471,360,000 and the crop in 1942 at $565,000,000. In Mississippi the crop of 1942 is reported by the government as 1,975,000 bales counting 500 pounds to the bale but the ginners' report gives the actual number of running bales ginned to December 13 as 1,874,903, which is approximately a half million bales in excess of the number ginned on the same date in 1941. According to reports to the census bureau the average yield per acre in Mississippi in 1942 is placed at 396 pounds, which is the highest average per-acre yield in the history of the state.

Farm Day January 12

Gov. Johnson has issued a proclamation designating January 12th as Farm Mobilization Day, following a similar proclamation by the President. The purpose of the movement is to get all farmers to meet in groups on that day to have the 1953 farm program explained to them. There is nothing in this whole war game more important than food and to achieve the maximum in production it is highly important that there be a full understanding of the matter, the purpose and the plan.

Lady Supervisor

Mrs. Dollie Mae Hines of Benton County was recently appointed by Gov. Johnson to succeed her husband as supervisor in the first district of the county, the husband having joined the armed forces. Mrs. Hines has performed her first marriage ceremony, said to be the first ever performed in the county by a woman, and probably the first ever performed in the state by a woman.

Mississippi Halts

Mississippi halts at the gate of the New Year to shed her tears of grief over the death of her noble sons who have given their lives in the holy cause of liberty. To them, who have died, and to the thousands who are struggling on the gory fields of war, Mississippi pledges her faith and her loyalty, all she has and is, to the cause they represent and the high purposes for which they fight.

Accidental Deaths

Accidental deaths during the Xmas holidays registered well above 400 in the nation, only two of them in Mississippi. The highest number reported from a single state was from California where 55 persons met violent deaths during the holidays, 40 of them from traffic accidents.

Good Man's Life Closed

Hon. E. J. Adam, of Pass Christian, former newspaper editor and for many years president of the board of supervisors in Harrison County, and later U. S. Marshal in the southern district, died last week. He was the father of former Lt. Governor Bidwell Adam, now engaged in the practice of law on the coast.

Traffic Accidents Drop

National Safety Council reports that traffic accidents in the United States in 1942 dropped to approximately 28,000. This is a reduction of about 12,000 or 30 per cent as compared with the record of 1941.

Rent Director

Bert Crisler, Jackson lawyer, has been named by Powell S. Hall, area rent director, as chief attorney for the territory under Mr. Hall's management. Mr. Crisler is a former attorney for the Federal Land Bank at New Orleans.

Faking Around

A new ship, the Pat Harrison, was launched in New Orleans Christmas week. An interesting law-suit between the State of Mississippi and Jackson County is now pending for settling the future status of the Pascagoula toll bridge. Mrs. Alice Nevels who recently joined the WAACS and is located in Des Moines, spent the holidays in Jackson in uniform showing her recent promotion to the rank of Lieutenant. Hon. Herbert Holmes, chairman of the Democratic committee, has issued a timely warning to Democrats to live close to the faith. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Prentiss died Christmas week at the age of 109 years. General rationing of food and many other articles will be seen in the near future.

It's common sense to be thrifty. If you save you are thrifty. War Bonds help you to save and help to save America. Buy your ten percent every pay day.

DOTS AND DASHES

The radio has just announced the opening of the Rose Bowl Game at Pasadena, Hall, between Georgia and the U. C. L. A. Both seemed pleased, etc. It was about 1 P. M.

There is to be a midnight show here New Years Eve. The weather is fine today (Thursday). Well, Happy New Year! Xmas was as always the one day of the year. It rained early and late Xmas Eve.

But Xmas day was fine, though a trifle windy. Wreaths on the lamp posts were green, red and white, to a block. Crowds of nice soldiers, you seldom see a gay one.

"Dreaming for a White Xmas" is the favorite song now. Also "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" is very popular.

Lots of babies in the crowd too; all kinds of cuties too! Mostly in carriages in the street and in the shops. Lovely things to buy; though they did go short on candies, and Christmas trees, at the last moment. Soldiers have plenty to choose from made especially for them. There are lots of churches here. All the cities of Orange County are alike, yet different. But now Santa Ana has the War Cadet Training Camp, near Newfort Beach. All the counties have fine crops, walnuts and fruit, etc.

On October 16th the Jap submarine stopped on tour, to increase the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. It was on a tractor-trailer. It was captured at Pearl Harbor. It was brought here by the U. S. Treasury. It's a two-man Torpedo boat. $100 in Defense stamps for adults. 25c for children to see inside. But crowds viewed it in the square. $3,000,000 in Bonds and Stamps were sold, during tour of California. And viewed by more than 1,000,000 persons. I saw it. It seemed large, and had double reddish balls in front. I believe those are the bombs they send off. The sub is 81 feet, tractor 13 feet. It weighs 80,000 lbs. 20 tons is weight of sub.

Rationing is going fine. We use syrup and jelly, with a little bit of sugar. Coffee is down, two cups at Restaurant—maybe. And butter is often white. Canned goods are coming around the corner. The Salvation Army is liked in California. You see them often on the streets. I had a bad eye, and asked a soldier what to do. "Cup it," he said. I did. Two days later, I was so dizzy I could hardly get up—but the eye was well! A foggy day in California, is lovely I think.

A large cannon captured from the Germans in World War I was on the court house grounds. They decided to give it for scrap iron. Workmen used electric tools to cut it. It took a whole day to do the job. There was a large crowd of people and trucks; but it was late afternoon before it was cut through and the parts removed. I went into the court house; it was so pretty with blue tiles, iron railings, marble stairs and high ceilings, etc.

Went to the circus. There was no parade. Lots of big elephants. That made you feel better. The acts were good, not many animals, but the usual crowd.

I know a good trick! Before you step on the Free weight machines, turn the hand to 125 lbs. barely, step on and if it's near your weight, you are apt to get your money back. Tuesday, the third day of November was election day in California. In Santa Ana, Warren, won far ahead of Gov. Olsen. Los Angeles is more Democratic than Pasadena.

On Armistice Day a large auction was held on the courthouse steps. Crowds gathered on the lawn where the flag staff stands. And where the cannon was, to bid buying Defense Bonds and stamps, for the different articles given by the stores. They made $1,000,000. To begin, a former mayor bid $2000 for a fabric from the first Jap zero plane shot down at Pearl Harbor.

Everything went fine. It lasted until 3 P. M.

Personally, I am not interested in any other form of government or form of economy than our own. I admire beyond expression the stand the Russians have made. They are fighting nobly for Russia and Soviet ideals. We're fighting for America and American ideals. I am not making guns or tanks to win a "people's revolution." I am making armament to help our boys save America. I don't want any "modified" free enterprise or Bill-of-Rights democracy. Immediately after the war, government aid to war-torn countries is a foregone conclusion. But not the rehabilitation of their economy or the reforming of their lives. I am not fighting for a quart of milk for every Hottentot, or for a TVA on the Danube, or for government handouts of free Utopia. W. B. Witherow, retiring President of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Here is a good statement of plain common sense.

It comes as a spot light in a dark room.

Let us hope it will be a stimulant.

The Junior Red Cross at Saint Joseph Academy last week finished making fifty Red Cross kit bags under the direction of Miss Kathleen Renshaw, Director of Junior Red Cross at the Academy, and her committee, McGonigles Paula Jenks, Sam Piazza and John A. Green, Jr. Each of the twelve classes at the Academy, made a completely 12 kit bags and a donation from the Parents Club made possible the equipping of five more, making seventeen bags completely fitted and equipped with the things soldiers require, and in such bag was placed a small booklet by Father Daniel A. Lord, S. J., the title of which was "Salute to the Men in Service."

The girls also made 100 nut cups, 100 tray cards and 100 menu covers, attractively designed and decorated in Christmas designs and colors which were delivered by the committee on last Monday to the Keesler Field Station Hospital to be used Christmas Day to brighten the trays of the soldiers who are ill. A sample of each of these will be displayed in the Beach Drug Store for the public to view.

Definite quotas for kit bags have been assigned to Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation, ranging from 15,000 for large chapters to 400 for very small chapters and the Junior Red Cross of Hancock County has pledged itself to make and help equip 400.

Kit bags—also called handbags, ditty bags and grabbags are a treat to any soldier and in a recent publication by the Red Cross, it was stated that kit bags were distributed to the men in the thick of battle and served as a distinct comfort, their contents including among other necessary items cigarettes, and writing paper. At Guadalcanal and Tulagi, a soldier writing home stated the nicest thing that happened after the battle died down was the receiving of "Red Cross ditty bags" which made every Marine still believe in Santa Claus.

A Bay St. Louis boy, John R. Ansley, who was wounded when the S. S. "Quincy" went down, spoke of his delight at receiving a kit bag which he was still enjoying while convalescing in a hospital at Pearl Harbor.

The Junior Red Cross at Saint Joseph Academy besides the work mentioned above is also working on two afghans, knitting sweaters and making hooked rugs from scraps.

Personal and General

NEW YEAR GREETED QUIETLY

The transition of the old year and the advent of the new were greeted without ostentation but was quietly recognized as was in keeping with the pall which hangs over our country today.

January the first was a day of quiet with the departure of the Tulsa boys and great numbers going to New Orleans for the game. Then there was the departure of the college crowd so the town might well have been designated as "The Deserted Village." However, there is zest added to life here with the opening of schools and the boarding students of St. Joseph Academy and St. Stanislaus returning.

There was the Holy Hour observed at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church of New Year's Eve with the four masses on New Year's Day.

Christ Episcopal Church held special service New Year's Morning with the sacrament of Holy Communion, and the church remained open in keeping with the president's request that the day be set aside for prayer for peace.

On New Year's Eve and Friday there were several small eggnog parties and informal gatherings for dinner at some homes.

The college set, too, sang and danced informally here and there with nothing of a formal nature claiming their attention.

She has been a general favorite in social and business circles and has held her present position for a number of years.

Mr. Favre is the son of Mr. Henry Favre and the late Mrs. Favre formerly of Pearlport but now of Bay St. Louis. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for New Orleans for a short stay.

Mr. Favre who is with the battery artillery of the United States Army left for Madison Barracks, New York where he is stationed and Mrs. Favre will join him later.
